

ABSTRACT

[0056] A method, apparatus, and system are provided for a multi-threaded virtual state mechanism. According to one embodiment, active thread state of a first active thread is received using a virtual state mechanism, and virtual thread state is generated in accordance with the active thread state of the first active thread, and the virtual thread state corresponding to the first active thread is forwarded to state update logic.